1. General Information

1.1 NavCert provides technical services as expert opinions, tests, measurements / laboratory services and develops services and related products in the field of positioning and navigation.

1.2 In the event that an order is placed, the customer shall accept the General Terms and Conditions, the Testing and Certification Regulations and the agreed Prices respectively the hourly rates which apply at the time when the order is placed. As a rule, deviating General Terms and Conditions of individual customers will not be honored.

1.3 Ancillary agreements, promises and other statements made on the part of NavCert staff or the experts called upon by them shall be binding only if they are expressly confirmed and in writing. This shall also apply to any modifications of this clause.

2. Executing Orders

2.1 Orders accepted by NavCert shall be executed and/or expert opinions shall be prepared in accordance with recognized technical standards while taking the state of the art into consideration and – insofar as contrary agreements have not been made in writing – the customary handling practiced by NavCert. No responsibility shall be assumed for the correctness of the guidelines and standards on which testing is based unless otherwise agreed and put in writing.

2.2 The scope of the work performed by NavCert shall be specified in writing when the order is placed. If changes or extensions of the specified scope of the order result during proper execution of the order, then they shall form the subject of an advance agreement in writing. In this case the customer shall be entitled to cancel the contract, if it would no longer be reasonable to expect that the customer adheres to the contract with regard to the changes or extensions. The customer shall, however, in accordance with Section 649 of the German Civil Code [BGB] pay the agreed remuneration or, in lieu of agreement, appropriate remuneration.

2.3 The contractual services of NavCert shall be deemed as having been furnished and completed with preparation of the respective final reports or expert opinions and – where applicable – the issuance of certificates.

3. Deadlines, Delay, Impossibility of Performance

3.1 The order periods indicated by NavCert shall not be binding unless they are specifically agreed upon in writing.

3.2 If NavCert exceeds a binding order period for reasons for which it is responsible and defaults on performance as a result, then the customer shall be authorized – to the extent that he has suffered damage because of the delay – to assert claims to damages for delay for each completed week of delay of 1% of the order value overdue as a result of such delay or a maximum amount of up to 25% of the order value overdue as a result of such delay. The regulations in 4.5 and 5 shall apply to any other claims to compensation in damages.

3.3 If, after the service becomes due, the customer grants NavCert an appropriate grace period and if NavCert allows this period to elapse or if it becomes impossible for NavCert to provide the service, then the customer shall be entitled to cancel the contract and – to the extent that NavCert proves to be culpable – assert claims to compensation in damages instead of the service in the amount of the damages for delay specified in Subclause 3.2. Sections 281 and 323 of the German Civil Code [BGB] shall remain unaffected.

4. Warranty, Liability

4.1 The warranty granted by NavCert covers only the services expressly ordered from it in accordance with Subclause 2.1. NavCert does not warrant for the correctness and functioning of the respective overall facilities to which the examined or tested parts belong; in particular, NavCert shall not be responsible for the design, choice of materials and construction of the plants examined insofar as such questions do not form the express subject matter of the order. Neither the warranty nor the legal responsibility of the manufacturer shall be limited or taken over in the latter case as well.

4.2 The warranty provided by NavCert shall initially be limited to subsequent performance within an appropriate period. If subsequent performance fails, i.e. it becomes impossible or unreasonable for the customer or in the event of unauthorized refusal by NavCert or undue delay, then the customer shall, at his discretion, be entitled to demand a reduction in the remuneration, or cancellation of the contract.

4.3 The warranty period shall amount to one year starting from passage of the risk, i.e. as of acceptance of the works.

4.4 NavCert shall only assume liability for a warranted quality of items and works, in particular that the service is suited to the purposes of the customer if the service is unsatisfactory and insofar as NavCert is responsible or a corresponding guarantee has been provided. Liability for consequential harm caused by a defect which results from violation of duty or with regard to a warranted quality shall be excluded if the violated duty or quality guarantee is not intended to protect against precisely such types of consequential damage. Customer warranty claims within the meaning of Section 443 of the German Civil Code [BGB] shall remain unaffected.

4.5 If a defect which does not involve the absence of a warranted quality, is due to a circumstance for which

NavCert is responsible or in the event that NavCert violates a contractual obligation, then NavCert shall, per order, be liable for resultant damage to the customer in the case of only slightly negligent causation of damage up to an amount of

1,000,000 EUR for property loss

250,000 EUR for financial loss

If a period of more than 4 months has elapsed between placement and confirmation of the order, and prices have increased in the meantime, then the modified price shall be the basis of calculation as of the 5th month.

6.2 Appropriate advances on costs may be required and/or partial invoices may be submitted for services already furnished. The receipt of an invoice does not imply a complete settlement of the order.

6.3 The fees invoiced in accordance with Subclause 6.2 and/or the final invoice after acceptance of the works shall be payable within 14 days after billing, insofar as no other agreement has been made.

NavCert shall be entitled to charge interest of 8 percentage points above the basic interest rate during any delay on the part of the customer to pay an open invoice. The customer shall become in arrears by way, of a reminder, or 30 days after receipt of the invoice at the latest. Other rights shall not be transferred; in particular, the customer shall not be entitled to modify expert opinions, test results, calculations or the like (edit) or to make use of such outside of his business premises. As it is in accordance with the contractually presupposed purpose, the forwarding of expert opinions and test results shall be allowed to public authorities.
